Fiona Bruce MP supports Volunteering Event in Parliament

Following two speeches made by Fiona last week in the House of Commons, one on the Government's Localism Bill (17th January) and the other on supporting disadvantaged children (20th January) during which she emphasised the importance of voluntary and community work; Fiona attended an event in Parliament today to support volunteering.

Fiona said:

'Volunteering adds to wellbeing – both of individuals and communities. It's two way – it benefits the recipient, and it also gives as much back to those who volunteer'.
